

Delaware American Choral Directors Association
presents the 7th annual
Festival for Treble Voices
Thursday, November 6, 2025, 9:30am-8:00pm

Presbyterian Church of the Covenant, 503 Duncan Road, Wilmington, DE

Students in grades 7-12 are invited to participate in this exciting event for Treble Voices! We encourage choir directors throughout Delaware to nominate enthusiastic and skilled soprano and alto singers for this full-day festival. Students should be prepared to learn music ahead of the event.

Students will have the amazing opportunity to work with our highly sought after clinician, Dr. Lynnel Joy Jenkins. Dr. Lynnel Joy Jenkins is the artistic director of Westrick Music Academy, music director of Princeton Girlchoir, and a choral teacher in the Hopewell Valley Regional School District, New Jersey.

The evening concert will also feature performances from the University of Delaware University Singers, and The Delaware Women's Chorus.

Cost per student is $70, which covers the cost of music for the festival (which students may keep), a festival souvenir, dinner, and the coverage of operational expenses for the event. We will attempt to distribute music and practice tracks to participants in advance of the event, allowing students time to familiarize themselves with the repertoire so we can make the most of our time with Dr. Jenkins.

Registration is open on a first come, first served basis for each school/organization. We will take the first 75 students with recommendations from their teachers. We will only accept 10 students per school/organization. Please consult with your director for registration details.

Students should plan to bring lunch (delivery is not allowed). Students should wear a plain black top that covers shoulders and midriffs for the performance with bottoms of their choice.
